

For the past decade, Lindy has served as the Associate Professor of Economic Development at Eastern University, PA. Prior to that, he was the co-founder of an NGO in Indonesia, focusing on economic development and micro-lending and served as Indonesia Country Director for Millennium Relief & Development Services out of Houston, Texas USA. His publications, writings, and public speaking events explore the connection between theology and community development.